EMBROIDERY EXHIBIT DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Only Three Days More of Attractive Display at Emporium of Kann's.

Three more days are left in which the women of Washington may view the annual embroidery exhibit in the store of S. Kann, Sons & Co. Prizes have been awarded to the successful com-petitors, and within the next few days the exhibit will be closed.

Rarely has there been a more attractive display of art needlework than is now being shown at Kann's. Every kind of fancy work is included in the collection, and many novel suggestions are made in the various pieces which are

Thousands of visitors have viewed the display, and on all sides there has been continual expressions of approval and admiration for the fine work submitted. Shirt waists, table pieces and all sorts of decorative work have found a place on the table, and many who have seen the display for the past two seasons declare this year's to be the most attractive collection of art needlework they have ever seen.

A number of the pieces have been sold for the exhibitors, although in this transaction the firm has acted merely as agent. A cordial invitation is extended to the women of Washington to visit the exhibit before its close on Mon-

SALVATION ARMY SAVED MAN FROM WIFE MURDER

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 1.-I thank God I came to this meetin I thank God I came to this meeting onight. I was on my way to Jersey lity to kill my wife, and would certainly have done so if God had not rought me here," was the dramatic declaration made by a well-dressed man in the Salvation meeting in the Peo-ple's Mission. He asked for prayers, and before Captain Hughes had finished an appeal for him* the man was in tears.

in the country, barring Helen Keller. Though born without arms, and still worrying along without them, Miss Hendricks can perform many acts which girls with the usual number of arms find difficult.

Miss Hendricks can play the piano, accordion, mouth organ, banjo, and several other musical instruments in a very creditable manner. For all these instruments, except the mouth organ, she uses her feet. To play the piano, Miss Hendricks takes a stool and seats herself above the keyboard, from where she manipulates the keys in an expert manner. To play the stringed instruments she uses her heel and toes.
